Time For Work . . .

There are many different facilities and classes that are available to students at Brookline High School. In the Unified Arts and Gym Buildings, and at the school, students can choose to take electives which include: photography, ceramics, dance, creative woodworking, printing, jewelry making, typing, cooking, drama, computer science, graphic art design, print making, drawing, music, band, painting, and many more. Although these classes are required for school credit, students have the chance to express their creative side, and take a break from academic classes. Electives are great preparation for the big bad world after graduation from Brookline High School.

Lunch Time Eateries!

At eleven for first lunch, and at eleven thirty for second lunch, everyone (teachers and students included) rushes out to their dining places of choice. The cafeteria and the quad are the most popular spots for eating lunch. The main reason that so many students eat in these places is because they are very convenient to travel to, and first semester freshmen are now allowed to go off campus to other food eateries (shh!!, don't tell, but they really do go off campus). The food served in the cafeteria isn't quite as delectable as food that is offered at Eddie's Food Truck, Columbo's, Sealey's, Chinese Maxim's II, Restaurant 108 (for tachers), and for those who have cars, McDonald's. Our yearbook photographer, Sylvia Allen, ventured out to these fine food eateries to take pictures and asked her fellow BHS peers, "Why do you eat your lunch at . . . " These are the responses that she uncovered:

Above, at Chinese Maxim's II: "Because it is raining out and I have this homework to do and I really wanted soup." Hillary

Below, at Eddie's Food Truck: ". . . Eddie has been here a long time, and we need to keep up the tradition." Tufu

Above, at Chinese Maxim's II: "Cause he's paying." Andrew, with Jennifer and Papey

At right, just outside Columbo's: ". . . Because there's room to sit, there's space."

Above, at Sealey's: " . Good sandwiches." Sara, "I'm hungry." Caleb, with Sealey's workers Kim and Tammy, who also wanted to be in the Yearbook!

Below, at Sealey's: Karen, " . This is my first time." Nashira, "It's good."

At left, at Sealey's: Mimi, Alissa, and Chris, " . . . Because they have really good steak and cheese subs. I come for the steak and cheese subs."

A friend is someone who likes you
It can be a boy
It can be a girl
or a cat
or a dog
or even a white mouse

Sometimes you don't know who are your friends.
Sometimes they are there all the time,
but you walk right past them and don't notice that they like you
in a special way
And then you think you don't have any friends.
Then you must stop hurrying, and rushing so fast
and move very slowly, and look around carefully to see someone who smiles at you
in a special way
or a dog that wags its tail extra hard whenever you are near or a tree that lets you climb it easily or a brook that lets you be quiet
when you want to be quiet.
Sometimes you have to find your friend.

Some people have lots and lots of friends and some people have quite a few friends but everyone
everyone in the whole world has at least one friend.

Where did you find yours?

"THE SURVIVOR"

"The Survivor" Review
by Angela Sigal and Michael Ilin

"Holocaust" is a term that all people in the world are familiar with; it does not need explanation because it speaks for itself. Virtually everyone had a friend or a relative whose life was affected by it. Some six million Jews were killed by Nazis during five years of the death march organized by Adolf Hitler and his close associates. Jews and others were killed on streets and in concentration camps set up by German soldiers. They were killed for one reason: they were different.

"The Survivor," a play recently performed by the drama students of BHS and directed by student Jonathan Gellert, recreates the conditions of Jewish ghettoes. "The play was based on Jack Eisner's true account of his group of teenagers struggling to stay alive in the Warsaw Ghetto against Nazi terror." "The Survivor" answers many questions about the Holocaust, but it does not answer one main question: why did this have to happen? The play shows that Jewish people put their lives on the line for a chance to get food to feed themselves and their families, The play also describes the "Warsaw Ghetto Uprising," which is now referred to and is considered to be the most heroic struggle waged during the Holocaust.

This play made people think about the Holocaust yet again, but in a new way: it made the audience ask themselves why it had to happen. Remember the Holocaust and don't let it happen again — was the most important message of the play, and the actors made this message come alive in everyone's heart. We must remember the price people paid for defeating Nazism and ask ourselves: do we want this to happen again?

J E R R Y

Jerry was staged in the Robert Dubbs Auditorium on December 13th-15th, 1995. The students did a wonderful job with this original play that was directed by Lun Ryrie. They created the characters of whom they structured through improvs. The set consisted of colorful boxes, and the show ran for an hour and twenty minutes. Jerry was the last play of the trilogy written by the students of the drama department. The first two plays were "In Dependence" (1993) and "Hide and Seek" (1994).

The main character, Peter J. Pool, was played by Dennis Staroselsky. He took on the name Jerry because his middle initial is J. Jerry copes with his fathers death through the death of Jerry Garcia. The time line of the play was from Jerry's sophomore year through his junior year. His life as a deadhead is portrayed through the appearances of his friends, Blue, played by Serge Berkely, Jake, played by Jonathan Tomlin, Leah, played by Klara Jolesz, and Vinny, played by Alex Valentine. He is caught between two women, Caroline, played by Sarah Donnelly, and Mia, played by Tamara Reiner who have completely different effects on his life. There is hope for Jerry at the end of the play when he rekindles his friendship with his former girlfriend, Caroline, and when his mother, played by Louisa Richards and Daria Polatin, is present when he visits his father's gravesite.

Mediation Program

SENIORS

To make the process work, there are a few simple rules.

1. Mediation is a process that is voluntary.
2. Everything said during a mediation is kept confidential. What is said in the room stays in the room.
3. In mediation, students take turns talking and no one can interrupt.
4. The student mediators do not take sides.

Having a conflict? Try mediation. Mediation is a chance for you to sit face to face and talk, uninterrupted, so each side of the dispute is heard. After the problem is defined, solutions are created and then evaluated. When an agreement is reached, it is written and signed.

Why should I try mediation?

1. Conflicts that do not get resolved often end in fights, which could result in suspension.
2. Conflicts that do not get resolved often result in hurt feelings, which could cause you to lose friends.
3. You will learn to choose a peaceful, responsible way to solve your own problems without an adult doing it for you.
4. Mediation will help you develop mutual respect and clear communication.
5. Mediation will make school a more positive place to learn and grow.

What is a student mediator?

A student mediator is one of your peers who has been trained to conduct the mediation meeting. A team of two student mediators make sure the mediation session is helpful and fair. There are 33 student mediators and 7 staff mediators at BHS.

If you are a sophomore, you can apply to take an 18 hour course to become a mediator. The training is held each spring in May. Watch for notices in your homeroom.

Walsh reveals renovation plans

MATTHEW M. BERGER

The cost estimate concerning the renovations to Brookline High School has finally been revealed by Superintendent of Schools James F. Walsh.

Conservatively estimated, the proposed renovation will cost $43.8 million. In order to fund the project, the town will have to pass a debt exclusion and go into debt. The interest charges that the debt will carry will push the total cost of the project to $71.4 million. The state will pay 61 percent of the total cost, which will leave residents paying $28 million.

Town Meeting will decide whether or not to approve the project. Should they support it, the Board of Selectman will likely ask voters for a Proposition 2½ override vote this December. Passage of the override would mean that Brookline's average homeowner would pay $3,000 over the 20-year period that the town will be in debt.

Both liberal and conservative homeowners have indicated that they feel the override would be too expensive. Linda Dean, president of the Association of Ones, Twos and Threes, says that many of her constituents feel that with the Lincoln School override,

Students upset at libel

MATAN FELDMAN

A group of eight students is vowing to pursue the Sagamore, Brookline High School's school-affiliated newspaper, for libelous remarks made about them in its June 20, 1995, issue, in which a review of the Battle of the Bands by Joey Lindley described their practices as "Satanic" and "worshipping the devil." The students sent a letter to the editors of the Sagamore expressing their "shock" at the contents of the article. The letter was printed in the October 18, 1995, issue of the Sagamore alongside an editorial that briefly apologized for the "misunderstanding" but mainly criticized the journalistic ethics of the other two school publications. "We at the Sagamore

Weintraub proposes new government

MLADEN NESIC

Brookline High School has been in constant flux for the past several years, a trend that shows no sign of abatement with the introduction of a proposal by Dr. Weintraub to change the school government as early as the present school year. The proposal, which was revealed to the Student Council in June 1995, seeks to completely reorganize the school government. It will be voted on in the upcoming months.

The three deliberating bodies of the government—the Student Council, the Faculty Council, and the Legislature—stand to be affected. These bodies would be united into one "supercouncil," which Weintraub claims

Questions arise after recent football injury

MATAN FELDMAN
AND PETER SZABO

A recent injury to freshman football player David Szabo has stirred up criticism over the handling of football injuries during practice. On September 14, Szabo was hit three times: once by a coach demonstrating a tackle and twice by a teammate. He landed on his right shoulder each time. After each fall the injury grew progressively worse, until the third tackle snapped the bone in his upper right arm. After sustaining the third hit, Szabo remained on the ground and an ambulance was called. While he was on the

The Murvian is the official name for the yearbook committee at Brookline High School. Our section editors are responsible for gathering and allotting assignments to their staff. Some of these assignments include typing, designing layouts, and taking photos. The Advertisement Staff sells ads and yearbooks; they also control mail distribution and publicity.

This year was the best and most productive staff that I have seen in my three years of working on the yearbook committee. Not only did we do a great job, but we also had a lot of fun and laughs. We were very efficient and creative, but most importantly, we met all of our deadlines on time (some of which we had more work than was required). I would like to thank everyone on the staff and also the contributors (listed below) for their hard work and perseverance, you guys did a wonderful job.

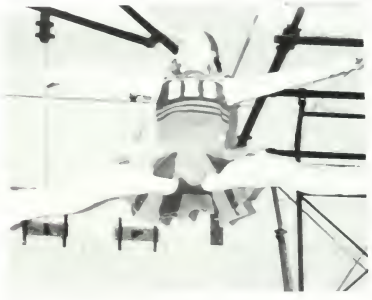
Cheerleading Competition

Every year the girls football cheerleading squad has a competition at the end of the fall season. This year the cheerleaders went to Braintree High School and competed against eleven other high schools in the state. They cheered and danced to a rap and dance mix that got the crowd jumping. Although the team didn't place, they did an outstanding job. Their hard work and dedication has not gone unnoticed. They perform during the football games and at the traditional Pep Rally in the Schluntz Gym the day before the Thanksgiving game versus Newton North High School.



Restaurant 108

Restaurant 108 is on the first floor in room #108. This fantastic eatery is a dream getaway for teachers to escape the cafeteria and its food. It is run completely by students who work for a stipend and classroom credit, and who are supervised by a teacher. The skills that the students learn are preparation for the real world. They cook, clean, work the cash register, wait tables and do many other tasks. This quaint restaurant looks like a quiet cafe with beautiful drapes and fine silverware.

First Light Night

It was the evening of November 16; dark, cold, and traffic was heavy as usual. So why were BHS students dancing across Harvard Street? Why was Camerata singing in the middle of Washington Square? Why was the string orchestra serenading shoppers at Bread and Circus, and why was a drama class miming in a bank?!?

First Light Night, of course! The second annual First Light Night commemorated the lighting of the snowflake lights that shine around Brookline during the holidays. This year's festival was a diverse and exciting "celebration of arts and shopping in Brookline." The arts brought people out of their homes to help give local businesses a boost, while participating businesses in turn gave 2% of the evening's profits to the arts programs of Brookline Schools. Different groups and individuals from the High School performed, and art pieces were on display. Brilliantly demonstrating their talents around Brookline, BHS students helped make this year's First Light Night a success.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Day

Every year BHS holds an assembly to honor Martin Luther King, Jr. and spread his message of peace

At ten thirty last night I sat at my desk excitedly jotting down ideas about the peaceful and diverse community in which I love. At ten thirty this morning I leaned against the kitchen counter quietly listening to reports on the shootings of seven people at two women's health clinics in Brookline. I stared down at Martin Luther King's "I have a dream" speech, and I pictured him standing on the steps of The Lincoln Memorial. I could hear his powerful voice projecting across the crowds of people protesting social injustice. These words had significant meaning to me. "With this faith we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood." Later, as I sat in the kitchen listening to Brookline citizens describe their anger and sadness, I understood that faith. Martin Luther King, Jr. inspired in us the faith that may one day allow us to fulfill his dream and live in brotherhood.

Martin Luther King, Jr. was a strong leader in the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church as well as the larger Montgomery community. His background in theology led him to respect all religions and believe in non-violence. In 1956 King agreed to lead the Montgomery bus boycott. He gave Montgomery citizens the courage and will to boycott the busses even though that often meant walking miles to and from work. Racists jailed King several times, sent hateful mail to him frequently, bombed his house in 1956, stoned him in Chicago, and threatened his life constantly, and yet King never resorted to violence in retaliation. In his "Letter form the Birmingham Hail" he denounced Southerners who disregarded the Supreme Court Brown v. Board of Education decision, stating "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere."

King had an understanding of justice unlike anyone else. He led several local demonstrations in his flight for justice before the federal government recognized and supported his campaign. In 1964, the year that King received the Nobel Peace Prize, Congress passed The Civil Rights Bill which prohibited discrimination in public places and demanded equal opportunity in employment and education. The following year Congress enacted the Voting Rights Act. Despite King's death the fight continued when Congress prohibited discrimination in the sale and rental of real-estate by passing the Civil Rights Act of 1968.

Martin Luther King, Jr. changed the course of American History more than any other leader during his time. His influence on American law helped to change a socially unjust system. His fight for racial equality was an integral part of his work for the betterment of society. He never lost sight of his goal to make America a nation of brotherhood. He not only changed the laws, he changed the people of America by giving them the courage to peacefully protest injustice.

As I listened to caller after caller deplore the horrific shootings and innocent deaths over an issue we all struggle with, I understood King's greatness. Martin Luther King, Jr. gave the community the courage to rise above the issue and stand up for justice. King has given us the strength to come together against violence and continue to struggle with the issue we confront daily in our path towards brotherhood.

The 1995 Boy's Lacrosse team had a positive year, both improving greatly and showing promise for next season. The team's record was 4-14, with many of the losses coming in close, hard-fought games.

Returning Key attackmen for next season are juniors Joe Figler, Paul Canney and Kevin McGarr. McGarr was a leading scorer with 28 points (24 goals, 4 assists). Sophomores Connor Chamberlain, Ethan Zwieg and Palmer Thompson-Moss should be a steady trio at midfield. Returning defensemen include junior Micha Mellor, and sophomores Doldge Donovon-Smith, Finn Harrigan-Anderson, and Kevin Thompson in goal. These players, should make next year's team a competitive one.

The Varsity Softball team has had some rough seasons. In the past 3 years the team has yet to have a winning record. This might have to do with the fact that the team has not had one coach for more than one season. It is difficult to adapt to different coaching techniques every year. The team does not lack talent, however it does lack a coach with enough experience and knowledge of the game to show us how to make it effective in competition. With most of its talent returning in the 1996 season, and more moving up, the team is really hopeful for a successful season.

Despite a slow start, the varsity baseball squad pulled it together at the end of the season. The team finished with a record of 4-16. And although this doesn't seem like a great a record, the season turned out much better than it sounds.

Campagna, along with many players on the team, just wanted to be somewhat more competitive this year. The team had many close games, losing most of them by only a couple of runs.

The squad is now looking towards the future of the team and next year's season. Next year Campagna will be looking towards juniors Gabe Ruane, Jacob Fenton, K.J. Deghmane, David Peterson, and Patrick Canney to step up and carry the team. Many felt that junior Jacob Fenton was the most improved player. Other younger players on the team like Joey Mandra and Calvin Chin, showed great promise and will hold the key to the teams future success.

Ruane, the catcher, feels that in order for the team to be successful next year, "We will have to have more commitment from all of our players, and we will need to work hard in the off season."

The girl's tennis team was a true success story. Though they established a demanding set of goals before the season began, they lived up to them all.

The team's primary concern was to do well in the league and move on to compete at the state level. They did so, winning the league with only one loss which came on a day when they were missing several varsity players.

This set the team up for their next hurdle, the state tournament. Their impressive regular season record had given them a number three seed in the south section. They went on to play in the semi-finals of the tournament, and lost 2-3 with the last match ending in a gripping three setter.

New freshman talent in the form of Katie Davidow and Ashley Patey, had been able to fill the void left by a couple of graduating seniors and Terryn Ashley.

"[Terryn] was a tough loss. We still did well, but she was an important asset that we did not have this year," says junior Lauren Smith, one of the key returning players on a list that included the likes of Erin Caplice, Jeanne Gabbay, and Cindy Tow. They helped to pace the team this year as they did last year.

Many team members achieved individually. Tow and the team of Caplice and Gabbay won the south section of the individual state tournament in the singles and doubles competitions.

The team's accomplishments are sure to continue next year as they have great talent and leadership that continues to grow.

The BHS Boys Tennis team had an extremely successful season. They finished with an 18-4 record. They won The Carey Division in The Bay State League edging Newton North, and went on to win The Division 1 South Sectional's with an exciting 3-2 win over Milton High School. After reaching The State finals with a decisive 4-1 win over Algonquin, Brookline's good fortune ended with a 3-2 loss to undefeated St. John's Prep.

Brookline's success was a total team effort. In some matches it was the singles players Rob Felt, Jed Farlow, and Reuben Domike who carried the team. In most matches, however, it was the depth provided by the doubles who pulled out pressure packed wins against Needham, Newton North, and Milton. The second doubles were consistently awesome; they played the entire season without ever losing at the second doubles position. Also making a significant contribution to this year's team were the Friedman brothers. Ben and Dan won pivotal matches for BHS this season.

The boy's track team had a great year and had a lot of fun while they won. The team was very dedicated this year, practicing almost every day for several hours. The whole team worked very hard to win their meets and they all worked hard to get where they are right now.

Overall, the team was well rounded, they had their strengths in basically all areas in the meets. This is due to the hard work that everyone expelled. The team was lead by a good squad of seniors. Although the seniors will be gone next year, the team has a good amount of freshman and sophomores to help out next year. In a few years, these freshman and sophomores should be able to obtain the same successfulness that the seniors did this year.

The most important thing to the team this year was to have fun; they put what was important into perspective. Overall the track team had a great year thanks to all the sweat that carried throughout the season. — Article from the Sagamore

The members of the 1995 Boys Volleyball Team were a pleasure to work with. I believe we are on the right track to a quality program with the team concentrating on the demands and dedication that are needed to field a successful team. We did not win many games this season but we worked well together and our skill level improved drastically throughout the season.

We were a young team with sophomores and juniors making up the majority of the squad. I truly believe the 1996 season will be the year Brookline gets back to the State Tournament and does some damage. Major contributors to the program will include: Simon Pace and Josh Friedman on the outside, Sivon Irvings as our setter, Brian Collins, Michael Frank and Richard Mon in the middle.

The Rugby team has shown its muscle this year with another winning season. The team finished with a record of 9-3 (including tournaments), and an impressive second place finish in the Massachusetts High School Tournament. The teams three losses were a team from Britain, Barrington R.I., and in the state tournament, Worcester. The team was very happy with the season overall.

The team was composed of players from all four classes. Football player extraordinaire Zev Winkelman lead the team in scoring but unfortunately the team lost him in the first round of states because of a broken hand. Freshman success story Alex Sunshine was also a great player who helped us in many games. Other notable players include Iain DeWitt and the Wright brothers.

Next year's team "looks good," according to Coach Dolan, but it is losing many key positions to graduation. The experienced players are expected to set the pace for another winning season. Coach Dolan said, "Next year's team . . . will need some recruited players." This message was echoed by Winkelman, "we are looking for any new players next year."

Is it luck or experience that will bring the Brookline Faithful another successful season next year? We'll see.

Unlike many of the other sports teams at BHS, both girls' and boys' crew had incredibly successful seasons. Both the co-captain on the girls' team and co-captain on the boys' team agreed, "This was the best squad of Rowers Brookline has ever had."

The girls' team did much better than they ever expected; the crew team ventured to Philadelphia. Their goal there was to make the semi-finals, but they continued rowing into the petit finals where they ousted many big teams, such as their rivals Timmesbury, and the crew of powerhouses from Exeter. The greatest goal was accomplished this season, "We earned the respect from rowers all over the country." Their success this season will move them up into a higher and more competitive level of rowing next year.

Crew has not been known to have steady coaches. "Last year was especially difficult because we had two coaches in one season" claims Donovan-Smith, but this year the novice coach, Marnie Lewis, carried this powerhouse team to victory. "Her attitude had a lot to do with our wins. The coach really believed in us and that we could do it."

Despite the leave of crucial rowers, the outlook is strong next year for juniors, Nora Stephens, Yng-Ru Chen, and Caroline Pope, as well as sophomores, Katie Mitchell and Kate Ewall. There is also a lot of potential in the freshman class novice rowers as well.

This all may sound good, but it gets even better . . .

The boys finished off the season with a victory from every race except Stotesbury in Philadelphia, which was due to equipment failure. Biggest wins this year were the Q-Cup against all the public schools and placing fifth out of twelve teams in the Grand Finals at the NEIRA's.

The biggest difference the boys' team had this year from every other year was the incredible mental strength, determination, focus, and dedication.

These eight brutes rowed their way to success this season, but they couldn't have done it without their 105 pounds of coxswain, Sarah Nicoson. "She was awesome; she let us pull victory. Before every race she would pump all of us up."

Both boys' and girls' crew teams greatest set back each year is the inconsistency of coaching. The boys seemed to overcome this with ease. However, it does cause organizational problems and takes a long time to get things done. It's hard to start from scratch every year; the coaches don't know the potential of the rowers. However coach Tiffany worked everyone hard and greatly improved the teams technique.

For the boys next year, their success will depend on how responsible people are. The boys' strength for next year will be juniors, Sam Batchelor, who is on the junior nationals rowing team, and Lauge Sokol-Hestner, as well as Gabe Andrade, Chris Bradley, Nick Devries, and Omar Paniagua.

Brookline Sailors Continue Winning Ways

The year 1995 proved to be another successful year for the Brookline High School sailors as they concluded their season with a 12 win 5 loss record. This marks the 22nd consecutive year that Brookline has had a winning season since sailing became a varsity sport in 1974.

Led by talented co-captains, the BHS team consisting of mostly seniors jumped out to a fast 4-0 record. At college visiting time many of the seniors were away and the underclassmen tried to continue the winning ways but experience took its toll and the BHS record slipped. Although tied for a sail off spot, BHS lost a close match in a tie breaker and did not make it to the finals.

In their home-and-home series with Brewster Academy, BHS won at home but lost on Lake Winnapesaukee. In another home-and-home series with Maine's Mount Desert Isle team visiting the year, BHS won a close series and hopes to repeat when they travel to Maine in 1996.

Prospects for next year appear bright with a brand new nucleus of sailors to start the season. Santiago Galvis and Jay Brereton will provide the varsity leadership for Junior Jamie Reilly and a talented host of sophomores and freshmen in a rebuilding year.

The sailing team is coached by Dr. Wallace Gleekman and uses home waters on the Charles River Basin.

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs; and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcomings. Who at the worst, if he fails at least fail while daring greatly; so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

Hey Girls!

This season has been great! Not only did we score unbelievably well, but we also had a lot of fun in the process. Here are some memories.

*Secret snowflakes (or the lack of them!)
*Getting yelled at, by Steve and other team's coaches, for leaving PowerAde cans around.
*"Do you have a leotard/spandex/hair elastic I can borrow?"
*The phantom of the spaghetti dinner.
*Saturday morning practices.
*Going to Sealy's

*Can I change the radio station?
*Snoozing on the fat mat.
*New vaulting record!
*WEDGIE!
*Psychotic bus rides.
*Fund raising
*Beating Newton South!

Congratulations on a successful season. It's been wonderful being your captains!

Love always,

Captains' Quote: This year was a new beginning. As a young team with new coaches everyone had a lot of adjusting to do. Since we were a small team, we couldn't focus on winning, but put our effort into personal bests, and building a base for the future. "I'M DESTINED TO LIVE THE DREAM FOR ALL MY PEEPS WHO NEVER MADE IT" NAS

MICHELLE BRADLEY

I thrive on despair agony is the key
to poetry.
I live off those crocodile tears.
I write down all my fears
All true.
I really am blue
My writing says to me
I know you.
The concoction
my stew
comes from my heart
my pain
Is what brings my writing to life.
I drain the words
out of my brain
that's how my stew
starts to brew.
It becomes part of me
and you!

Flora Mayzelis

We do not come to believe in ourselves until someone reveals that deep down inside of us is something worth listening to.

The SWS overnight was a time for the new and the old SWSers to spend time together as a community. On October 19 and 20, some students cuddled in their sleeping bags on the field, while others chose to stay warm in the Grossman Camp lodge. Over our homemade dinner of pasta, salad, fruit and chocolate, we sat by guitar players, singing along to familiar tunes, while others danced away! The SWS overnight was a very sober and successful experience that pleased both the students and the faculty. (P.S. Has anyone seen the bikers?)

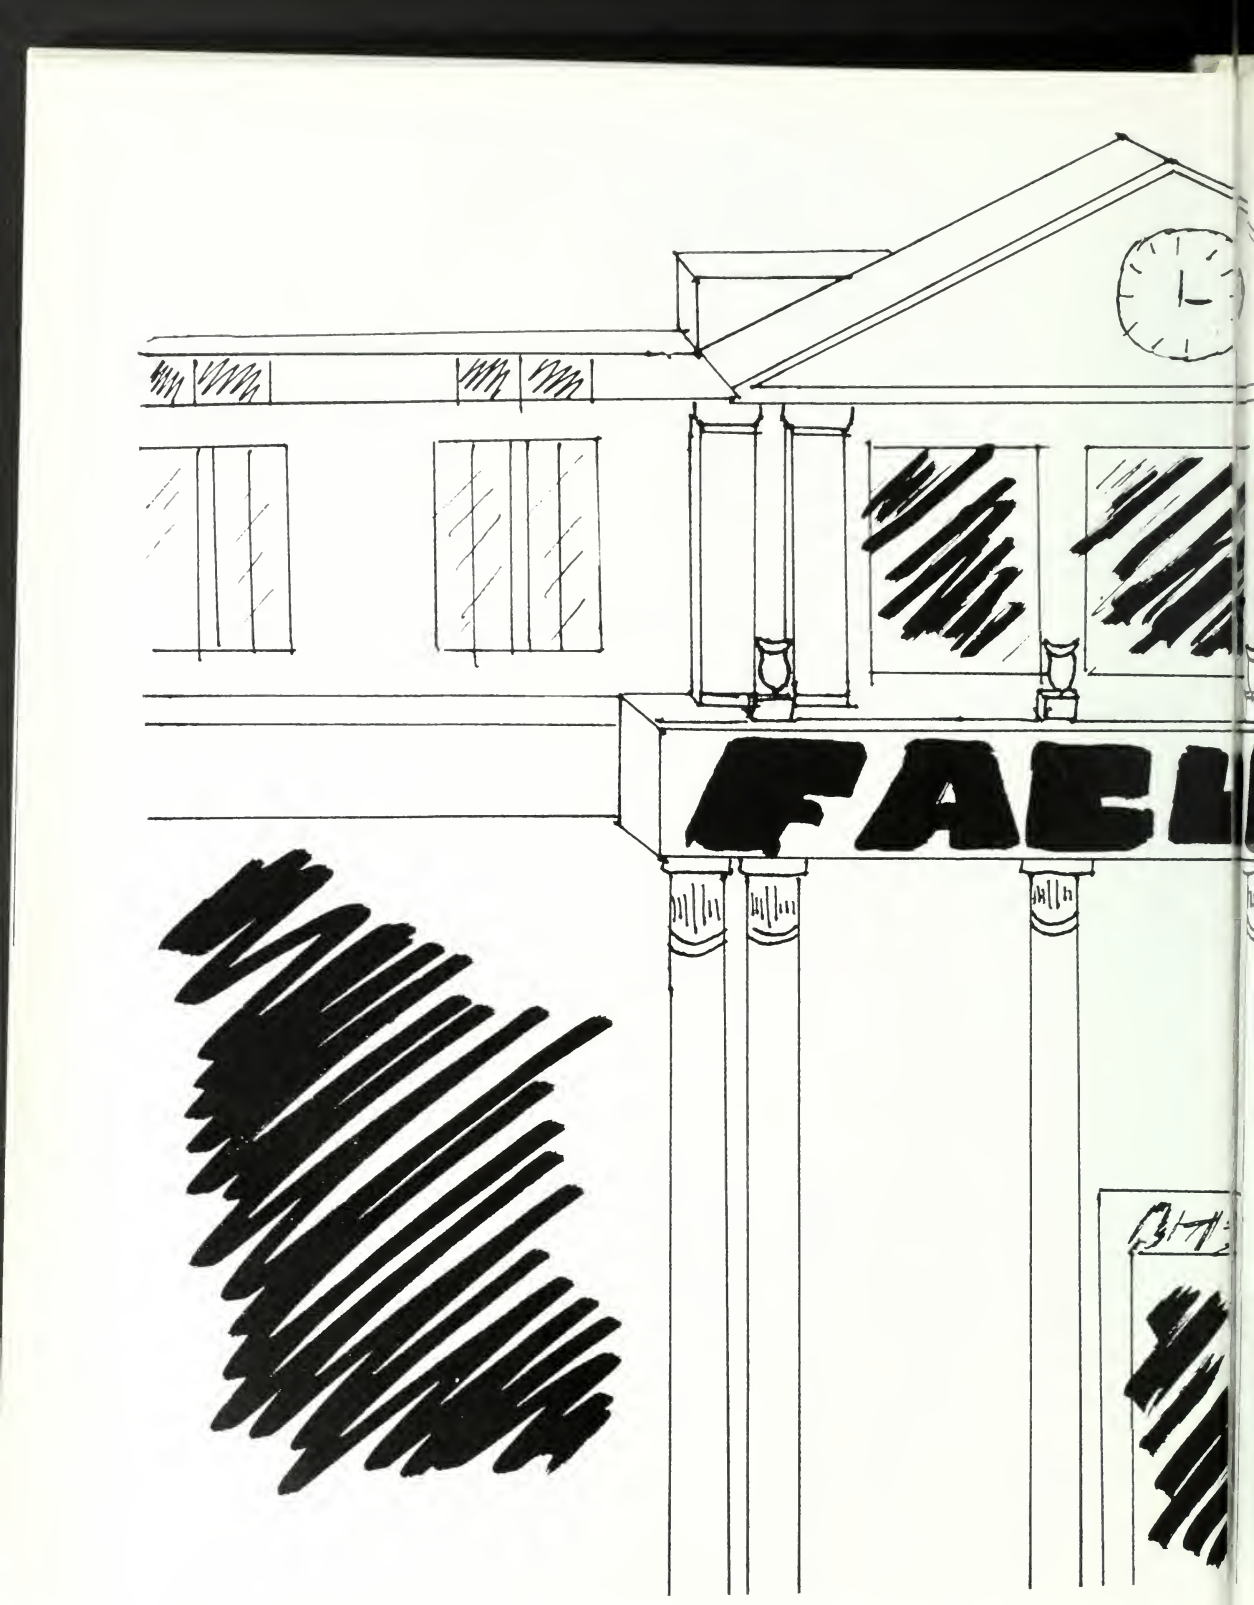
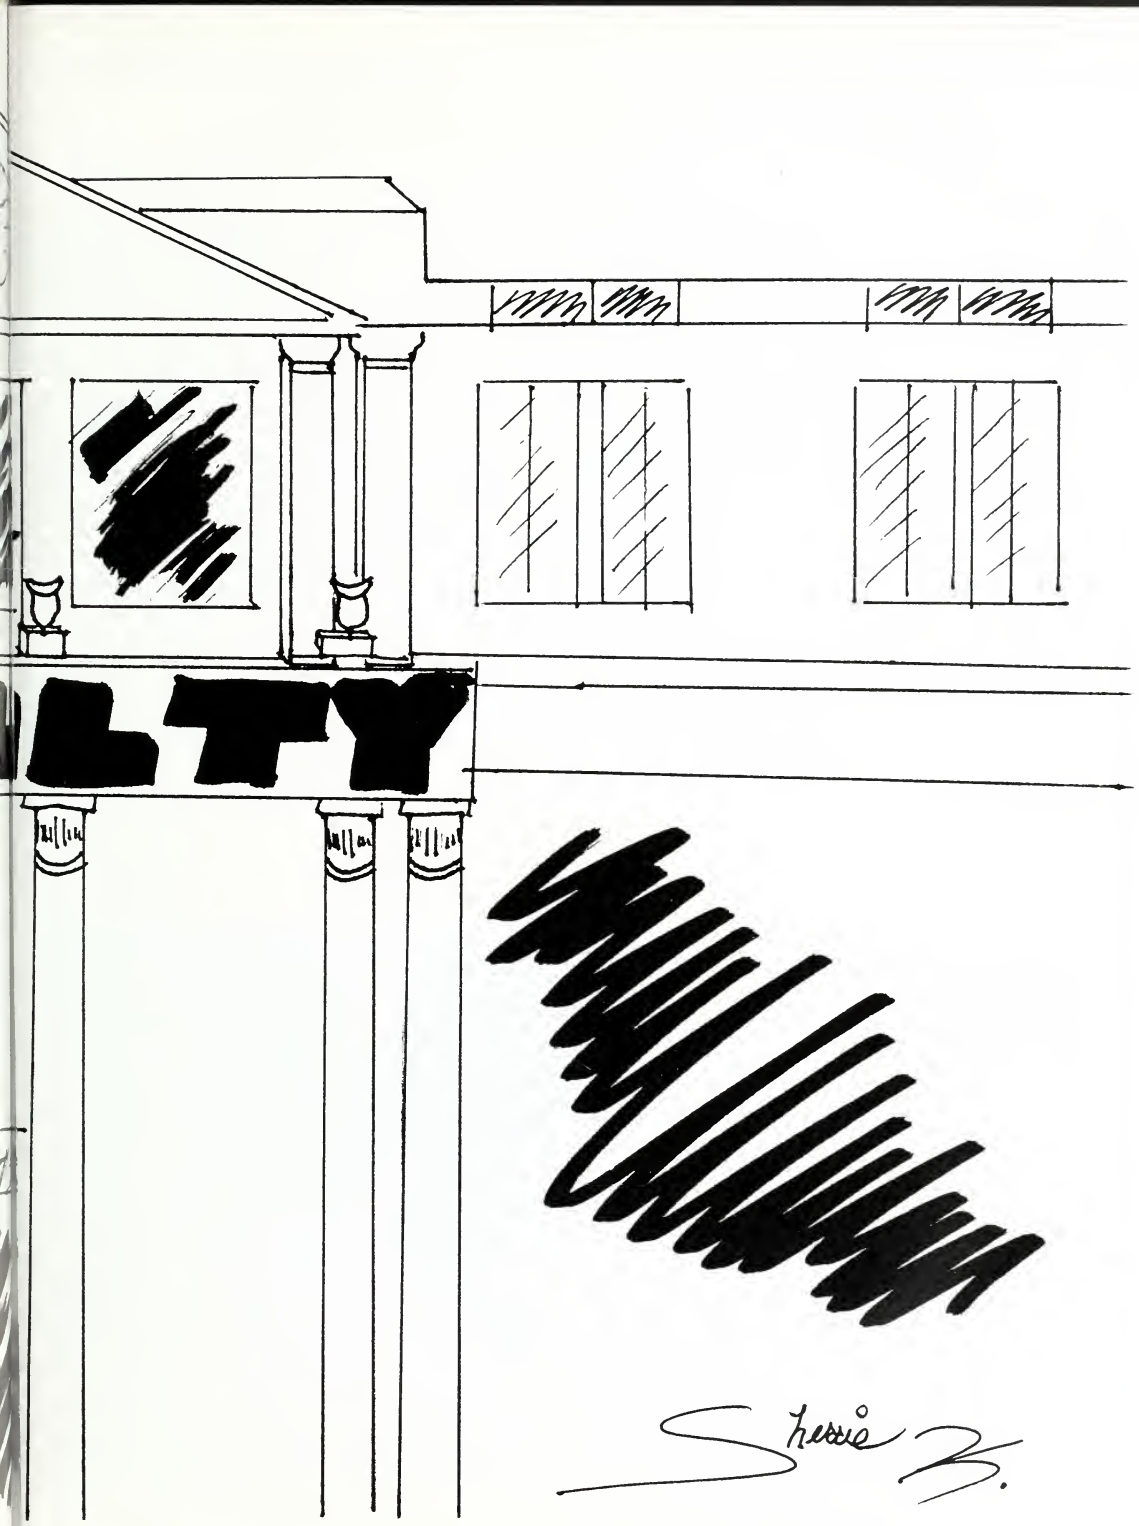
Class of 1996
Graduates



FACU



LTY

Headmaster, Robert J. Weintraub, Ed. D.

The Class of 1996 has been and will always be a very special one for me. You are the first class that I've followed for four years, you've been here for four years and I've been headmaster for four years. Also, the Class of 1996 includes my own daughter, Sarah.

You are a class that reflects the great traditions of Brookline High — you are one of the highest achieving classes in our history; you are multi-talented, having also excelled in athletics and in the visual and performing arts, and you are caring, generous and very decent people. You've done a pretty good job keeping the cafeteria and Quad clean.

You timed your stay here brilliantly. You will have graduated when the massive renovations begin.

Please join the BHS Alumni Association and please return when we dedicate "The New Brookline High" in 1999.

"Dr. Bob"

The Dean's Team

Dear Members of the Class of 1996,

As you look back on the times you have spent at Brookline High School, it must astound you how fast the years passed! From the members of this Dean's team, we salute you as you venture forward!

Your work here is complete, but please remember that your education needs to be ongoing. Continue to learn with every experience that life gives to you and don't forget to laugh as you enjoy the fruits of your labors.

The classes behind you will follow your lead, but they will never duplicate the imprints that you have left on B.H.S.

Farewell for now, Class of '96.

Gretchen Tucker-Underwood
Dean of Students for 1997

Assistant Headmaster, Stephen J. Barrasso

I am pleased to have this opportunity to comment formally on the CLASS of '96. This Class continues to amaze me with their scholarship in our classrooms; with their volunteerism in our community; and with their talent and excellence on our ball fields and courts, on our stages, and in our schools' extra-curricula activities. You have met and exceeded our high standards and high expectations. My best to you always as you continue your journey through life.

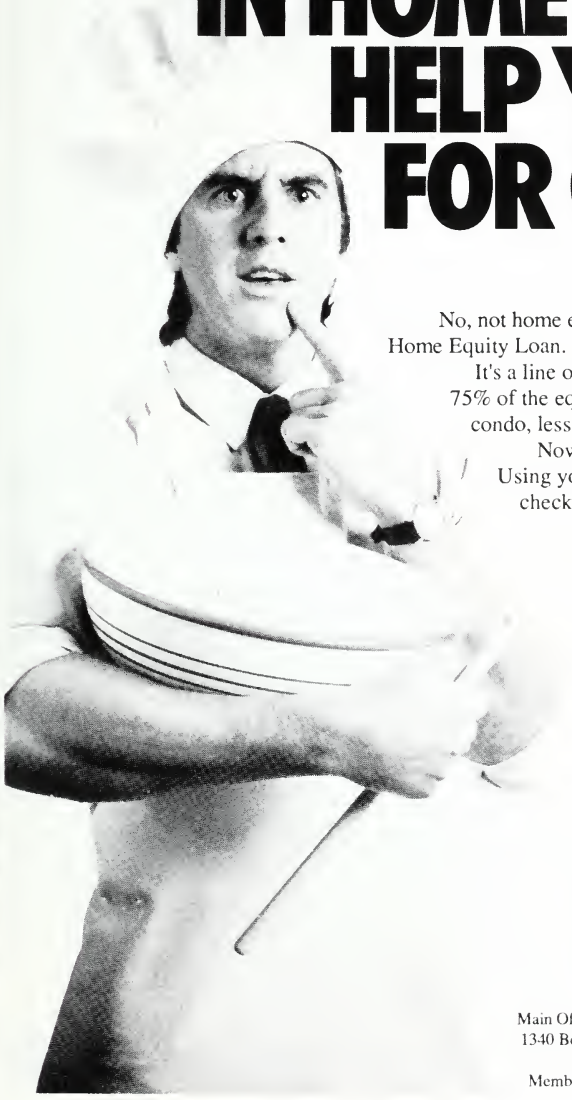
HOW A COURSE IN HOME EC CAN HELP YOU PAY FOR COLLEGE.



No, not home economics. Brookline Savings Bank's Home Equity Loan.

It's a line of credit that lets you borrow as much as 75% of the equity in your owner-occupied house or condo, less the first mortgage.

Now it's easy to meet those big college bills. Using your line of credit is as simple as writing a check. And, it may be tax deductible.

Because a Home Equity Loan is secured by the equity in your home, the rate is only $1\frac{1}{2}$ points above the prime rate published in the Wall Street Journal.

Take a quick course in home equity at any Brookline Savings branch today. Our customer service reps have all the facts. And all qualified home-owners are sure to pass.

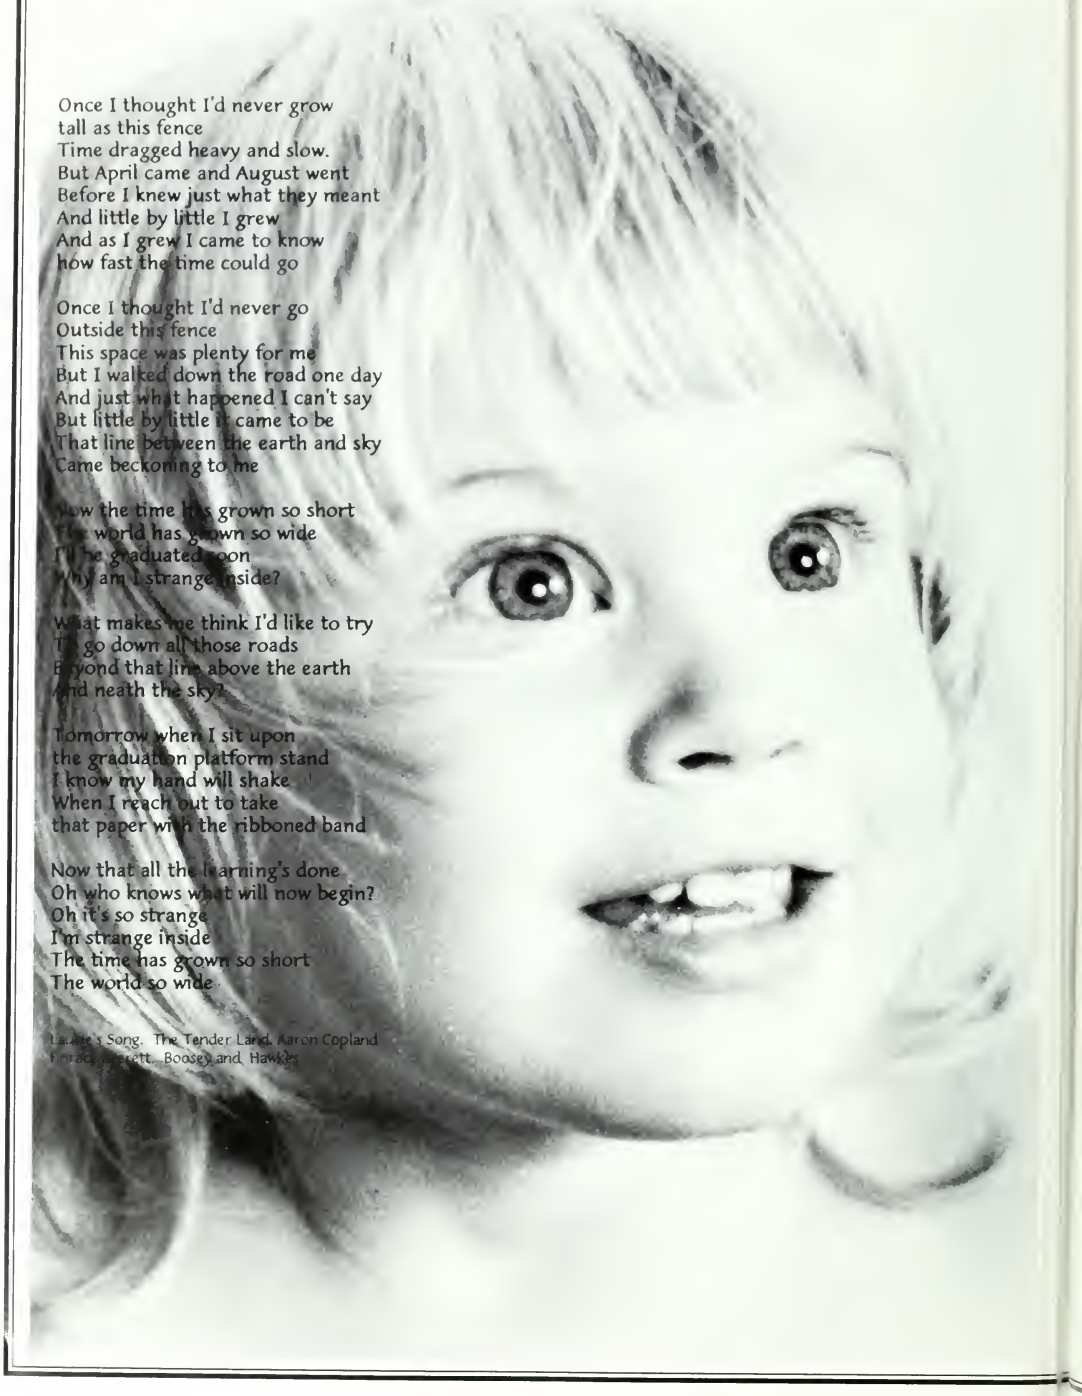
Release your struggle & let go of what could
You are far more than you imagine.
We love you always.



Once I thought I'd never grow
tall as this fence
Time dragged heavy and slow.
But April came and August went
Before I knew just what they meant
And little by little I grew
And as I grew I came to know how fast the time could go

Once I thought I'd never go Outside this fence
This space was plenty for me
But I walked down the road one day
And just what happened I can't say
But little by little it came to be
That line between the earth and sky
Came beckoning to me

Now the time has grown so short
The world has grown so wide
I'll be graduated soon
Why am I strange inside?

What makes me think I'd like to try
To go down all those roads
Beyond that line above the earth
And neath the sky?

Tomorrow when I sit upon the graduation platform stand
I know my hand will shake
When I reach out to take that paper with the ribboned band

Now that all the learning's done
Oh who knows what will now begin?
Oh it's so strange
I'm strange inside
The time has grown so short
The world so wide

ITHAKA

When you set out for Ithaka
pray that your road's a long one full of adventure, full of discovery.
Laistrygonians, Cyclops,
angry Poseidon—don't be scared of them
you won't find things like that on your way as long as your thoughts are exalted, as long as a rare excitement
stirs your spirit and your body.
Laistrygonians, Cyclops,
wild Poseidon—you won't encounter them unless you bring them along inside you, unless your soul raises them up in front of you.

Pray that your road's a long one.
May there be many a summer morning when full of gratitude, full of joy—
you come into harbors seen for the first time;
may you stop at Phoenician trading centers and buy fine things,
mother of pearl and coral, amber and ebony,
sensual perfumes of every kind,
as many sensual perfumes as you can;
may you visit numerous Egyptian cities to fill yourself with learning from the wise.

Keep Ithaka always in mind.
Arriving there is what you're destined for.
But don't hurry the journey at all.
Better if it goes on for years,
so you're old by the time you reach the island,
wealthy with all you've gained on the way,
not expecting Ithaka to make you rich.

Ithaka gave you the marvelous journey.
Without her you wouldn't have set out.
She hasn't anything else to give.

And if you find her poor, Ithaka won't have fooled you.
Wise as you'll have become, and so experienced, you'll have understood by then what an Ithaka means.

- C.P. Cavafy

I love you, Alicia!
